Happy World Meteorological Day! #WorldMetDay

World Meteorological Day is a yearly event that is celebrated on 23 March. Since 1961 it has commemorated the establishing of the World Meteorological Organization (WMO) and highlights the huge contribution that National Meteorological and Hydrological Services make to the safety and well-being of society.

This year's World Meteorological Day theme is “Climate Knowledge for Climate Action” and provides an opportunity to explore the climate knowledge we have obtained over previous decades and how it is being used to support action to address climate change and climate variability.

Resources and information have been made available by the WMO and can be accessed on their website >> [1]
