Reach the Exeter office by bus and coach

Travelling to the Met Office by bus is simple, easy and convenient. There are many buses operating across Exeter, so you can travel from the city centre and beyond. Bus service 4/4A and the Park and Ride serve the bus stops on Honiton Road just outside the Met Office site.

Reach the Exeter office by walking or cycling

Pedestrian/cycle links with safe crossing facilities have been provided from the Met Office site to Honiton Road and Hill Barton Road (adjacent to the site), and to Honiton Road Park and Ride.

Reach the Exeter office by rail

Frequent direct services operate between Paddington and Waterloo stations in London and Exeter St Davids and Exeter Central stations. A typical journey from London to Exeter takes around 2 hours 15 minutes, and from the Midlands around 2 hours 30 minutes.

The number 4 and 4a buses operate from the station and stop at the Honiton Road Park and Ride close to the Met Office site, and the 4a continues to Exeter Airport. Visit the Stagecoach website for more information.

Pinhoe can be reached from London Waterloo from the east or Exeter St Davids from the west and south. It is possible to travel direct to Digby and Sowton without changing trains from stations on the Paignton line.

Reach the Exeter office by car

The Exeter office is located close to the M5. Limited parking spaces are available on site – please contact us for more details if required.
